(By United Press.)

Chicago, July 24.—After completing a tour of all temporary morgues
at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, Superintendent Schuettler said he had no doubt but that the death toll would reach fifteen or eighteen hundred persons.

INVESTIGATION STARTED.

Washington, July 24.—Assistant secretary Hoover of the federal steamship investigating bureau designated Ira B. Mansfield and William Nicholas, respectively hull and boiler inspectors of the bureau's Chicago branch, to investigate the Eastland disaster immediately.

Chicago, July 24.—Six hundred bodies, victims of the Eastland steamer disaster, had been taken from the Chicago river and vouchered for by a police censor at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. First Deputy Police Superintendent Schuettler gave out the figures.

"There are at least 700 bodies still in the steamer hulk or in the river," said Schuettler. "The 600 bodies now accounted for included 353 bodies that are at the temporary Reid-Murdock morgue alone."

At least 600 were drowned with every indication pointing to over 1,000 when the steamer Eastland sank in Chicago river early today.
This was the estimate of police and coroner officials at noon. They were employees of the Western Electric company on a vacation trip.

At that time several plates had been cut into the upturned sides of the vessel. A score of men were carrying out the bodies as fast as they could be placed ashore.

An official of the Western Electric company declared that several departments in which only girls were employed had undoubtedly been wiped out. Most of the employees in departments where only girls and women were employed were assigned to the Eastland.
INSERT LEAD EASTLAND.

Dr. T. A. Carter told a United Press representative that he had counted 400 dead. Dr. Carter was assigned to the work of feeling the pulse of those brought ashore.
Those with any sign of life were rushed to hospitals and were given first aid immediately while others were taken to hastily prepared morgues.

"I counted 400 dead among those
I examined," said Dr. Carter.

The arrest of Captain Pederson
and First Mate Fisher was ordered.
Police charged that both officers had hampered rescue work. As 10,000 persons saw Pederson led away there was a near riot and he was struck.

A card system was installed at noon to aid in identifying bodies.
This work went forward very slowly
due to the confusion of rescue work.
Former Alderman F. W. Taylor

said the Eastland had been condemned and rebuilt six years ago because its center of gravity was not right. He demanded a complete and merciless investigation.

Big warehouses were turned into morgues. Injured and dazed victims wandered far into the loop district with their clothes partly torn off before they were found and sent to hospitals. Bodies were piled in long rows until they could be removed to morgues.

The Eastland was carrying 2,000 souls—within seventy of her capacity.

The catastrophe is believed to have resulted when hundreds of the vacationists on board ran to one side to wave farewells to friends on the pier.

The count of 600 dead bodies was made by Deputy Police Superintendent Schuettler, who personally counted the bodies taken to the steamer Theodore Roosevelt and to the improvised morgues.

Scores are believed to have been crushed into the muddy bottom of the river by the weight of the boat.
Other scores could be heard pounding and screaming for help imprisoned in the state room. Officials of the St. Joe line, owners of the ship, ordered workmen to cut open the bottom and side in hopes of rescuing those imprisoned.

Investigation disclosed that the Eastland was regarded as a trap by many and that in Cleveland condemnation proceedings were threatened following a panic that resulted when the boat listed badly.

The boat was chartered with four other boats by the Indiana Transportation company to carry western electric excursionists to Michigan
City, Ind., today.

Many of the victims were women and children. So thick was the water with bodies that for an hour after the catastrophe rescuers passed by those believed to be dead to save the living.

Because of the panic rescue work was sadly retarded. Although every available pulmotor was rushed to the pier, many died after reaching shore.

Lack of water ballast was blamed for the list by some while Captain Peterson said a broken aid shoot let in water.

The boat sank in over twenty feet

LUCAS ADMITS HIS GUILT TO MAYOR

"Bootlegger" is Fined $50 and Sentenced to 150 Days at State Penal Farm Saturday.

Robert Lucas, arrested Friday on a "blind tiger" charge, changed his plea this afternoon to guilty and was fined $50 and sentenced to the state penal farm for 150 days by Mayor Bebout. Lucas decided this afternoon not to fight the case and
to throw himself on the mercy of the court. The fine of $50 is the minimum under the law.

Mayor Bebout told Lucas that the community expected him to serve out
the sentence as there was no clemency expected to be shown "bootleggers" and that any one dealing in
the illegal sale of liquor here could expect to serve time at the state farm. Lucas was unable to secure the $800 bond and after thinking the matter over decided that the police had the "goods" on him.

DAMP WHEAT IS STEADY WORRY

Elevator Men Suffering Considerable Loss This Year Because of Unfavorable Weather.

TRY TO DRY IT IN THE BIN

Causes Loss of at Least Five Cents
on Bushel—Many Threshed
Grain When it Was Wet.

Grain and elevator men here are confronted with the serious problem of damp wheat here this year to a greater extent than in many years.
The elevator men have to take wheat contracted for earlier in the season, but in many cases they are losing as high as five cents on the bushel drying the grain so that it will be acceptable on the market.

The wet grain is due to the great amount of moisture during the harvest season. Its a rare shock of wheat that did not get a drenching
this year before it was sent through the threshing machine to be separated from the grain. The rain is not costing the farmers as much as the elevator men.

Many of the grain dealers contracted for wheat at a dollar a bushel. Some farmers attempted to let their grain dry out before they threshed it, but others, rather than
take a chance on drying the grain, threshed it anyway, causing much wet grain to be thrown on the market.

Elevator men can not deliver wet
wheat and expect to get the market price. They have to dry it out first.
One dealer said this morning that approximately half of the wheat in his elevator right now was moist.
This necessitates a night shift of men and added expense for power.

Some local elevator men had planned not to handle damp wheat, but when competitors accepted it in any condition, it was up to them to take it also or lose wheat they had contracted for. They say that it is almost impossible to dry wheat thoroughly in the bin.

The grain that is arriving on the market now is all that remains of what was predicted as a "bumper"
wheat crop. In the early stages of its growth, the crop had all the earmarks of one of the best crops in the history of Rush county. The conditions last winter were ideal, according to farmers, and the spring weather could not have been much better. But the rains came while the grain was in the shocks and farmers listened to the arguments of threshers—who are hurried to get the crop off their hands. The result is it has been threshed and much of it is in poor condition.

There are a few good fields being reported, however, and some good yields are known to have been made.
One crop completed today averaged twenty-six bushels to the acre of sixty-pound wheat.

Much of the wheat has not been threshed. The crop is way behind because of the damp weather. Rains halted the final development of some of the fields. In some fields it was almost impossible to enter until this week on account of the mucky con-

PICNIC CAMPS MUST HAVE CARE

Federal Revenue Collector Warns
Them Not to Sell Liquor or
They Must Pay License.

ELSE THEY'LL BE PROSECUTED

Many Physicians Fail to Comply With Anti-Narcotic Law Beginning Fiscal Year July 1.

"Wet" picnics and summer camps
in addition to evading the local police because the sale of liquor is prohibited here, will have to watch for federal revenue agents because it has been announced that Peter J.
Kruyer, collector of internal revenue
for this district, has sent out letters
to his division agents directing them
to investigate all picnics and camp to see if they are violating the federal law.

If the federal agents find liquor is being sold, they will demand the payment of the federal retail license fee of $25 a year or the person or persons selling the booze will face prosecution in the federal court.
Mr. Kruyer is the collector for forty-nine Indiana counties, one of which is Rush county.

By the order of the collector, then,
the old custom of picnic grove owners giving organizations picnicking
in their places the use of a bar will
be tolerated by the federal government only on condition the promoters of the picnic pay the government liquor tax.

Summer camps, too, exist in many places for practically the sole purpose of selling liquor. These must make a settlement with the government. Such camps are said to have been plentiful near Rushville the last few years.

Mr. Kruyer says that the Indianapolis beer camps gave him the first tip as to some revenue that was shipping through the internal revenue department unpaid. When it was brought out last year that liquor was being sold in camps, the collector sent his men out and, verifying the reports, collected $25 at each of the camps.

After collecting from the Indianapolis camps, the collector sent word to his deputies in other parts of the state directing them to search for similar violations. Several were found and the year ended with a few hundred dollars being added to the revenue department's collections.

Collector Kruyer has also announced that more than six hundred physicians in his district are liable to prosecution under the anti-narcotic law unless they register according to the provisions of that statute before July expires. There are approximately six hundred less doctors in the district who have registered for the fiscal year beginning July 1 than there were registered when the law became effective last March.

When the law became effective in March, something less than 6,000 physicians in the Indianapolis revenue district registered under the requirements of the law for the balance of the fiscal year, which ended June 30. It is necessary for all to register again for the present fiscal year, Mr. Kruyer explained, and he added that agents of the department will be at work to prosecute those who fail to do so.

Members of the Knights of Pythias lodge will meet at the hall Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, at the request of the Amos family and the Milroy lodge, to attend the funeral of Amos Winship.

IT IS BETTER TO ACCEPT THE LAW

Insurance Company Representatives
Point Out Section of Workmen's

WHICH BINDS EMPLOYER

Says he Can't Rely on Contributory Negligence Defense in Case he
Rejects The Law

Following a discussion of points
of interest in the Indiana workmen's compensation law in the Daily Republican Friday evening, in which it was set forth that employers
could reject the law if they saw fit, local representatives of compensation insurance companies Saturday were calling attention to the fact the law provided in case an employer elected not to operate under the statute, he could not use a defense much-used and over-worked contributory negligence.

It was further pointed out that although the law says in so many words that if the employer does not want to insure with a regular company having the power to do compensation business, he must furnish satisfactory proof of his ability to pay in case of mishap befalling his employees, the "red tape" surrounding such proof required by the board under the law, is so cumbersome that
the clause is practically negligible and it becomes almost imperative for the employers to take out compensation insurance. This is the opinion of local representatives of insurance companies empowered to do compensation business, and it is also the opinion of many other people.

The law becomes effective the first of September and for that reason employers are giving the law considerable study.

Attention was called today to section ten of the first part of the law, classified as "Hurts and Remedies,"
which says:

"Every employer who elects not
to operate under this act shall not in any suit at law by an employee to recover damages for personal injury or death by accident be permitted to defend any such suit at law upon any one or all of the following grounds: (a) that the employee was negligent; (b) that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow employee; (c) that the employee had assumed the risk of the injury."

Representatives of insurance companies assert that this section makes it imperative that employees take advantage of the law, otherwise they will be left with no defense in case of accident befalling one of the employees.

On the other hand, those who contemplate rejecting the operations of the new law, have fallen back on the opinion of some well known
lawyers in Indiana who assert that section is unconstitutional because no law can nullify a basic principle
of law, namely, that the question of contributory negligence may enter in any damage suit regardless of what the workmen's compensation
law may say.

Insurance company representatives here have referred to the
"Rules of Procedure Before Industrial Board," which were issued by the board created by the law, regarding the clause which says employees need not take out insurance
if they can furnish satisfactory proof of their ability to pay in case
of injury to their employees.

Rule sixteen says that any employer "desiring a certificate of his financial ability to pay compensation direct, without insurance, shall file with the Industrial Board, upon the form prescribed by such Board, his

NOTE DOES NOT CALL FOR REPLY

It Opens Way For Germany to Assure Washington International Law Will be Obeyed.

FINAL WORD IS EXPRESSED

Berlin May Disavow Sinking of Lusitania and Make Reparation
For Loss of Life.

Washington, July 24.—With the publication today of the note warning Germany that any repetition of acts by her submarine commanders
in violation of American rights would be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly," the United States government awaited further developments.

The note does not necessarily call for a reply. It leaves the way open, however, for an answer from Germany disavowing the sinking of the Lusitania and offering reparation, submitting assurances as to the future actions of her naval officers and even asking directly for mediation
by the United States between the German and British governments on the general subject of warfare on the seas.

The use in the note of the phrase
"deliberately unfriendly" is viewed here as expressing the final word of the United States government regarding Germany's submarine warfare. The United States does not abate in any respect, but rather more strongly insists on the demands made in previous notes that Germany acquiesce in its views that the rules of international law and humanity be obeyed in her naval warfare.

The United States government can not believe, the note says, that "the imperial government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton acts of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania," and making reparation for the lives of Americans in that disaster. It announces that the government will continue to contend for the freedom of the seas
from whatever quarter violated, without compromise and at any cost.

The note also invites the practical co-operation of the German govern-

No man with good goods or

If he is wise he chooses news-

Your Hair has Life-Dandruff is its Executioner

Dandruff is killing your hair as surely as if you were uprooting it. It is slowly but surely strangling the life out of it. Dandruff is a disease and 95 per cent of the people have it in one form or another, and the most dangerous kind of dandruff is the kind that gives no surface indication of its presence. The kind that is visible on shoulders and coat collars would be as dangerous but you know that you have it.

JAP DANDRUFF REMEDY used in connection with JAP CREAM OLIVE SHAMPOO will completely eradicate dandruff and will keep your scalp free from it. The results are sure if you but follow directions. And it is a mighty pleasant operation, too. Soothes the scalp, allays all irritation and puts the scalp in the condition nature intended it to be in and keeps it that way. You had better order the Jap Remedies right now — you might forget it.

STANDARD FOR HORSE LOWERED

Anything That Can Walk On Four Legs And Weighs Above 1,000 Pounds Can "Get Into Army"

BUYERS REAPING FORTUNE

High Standards First Set by Allied Buyers Had to be Reduced Because of Supply

(By United Press.)
Chillicothe, Mo., July 24.—All of the carefully formulated restrictions that used to control the purchasing of horses for the armies of Europe have gone by the boards.

There was a period during the first month or two of the great conflict that the cavalry officers of the allies, detailed to the United States to secure animals for use on the fighting front, made a brave effort to maintain their old standards. A horse had to weigh at least 1300 pounds, be so many hands high, be free of blemish, both internal and external have a showy foot action and show evidences of high spirit. But now all that sort of thing is of the past. Anything that can weigh up to 1000 pounds and walk on four ostensibly sound legs can get past in flying colors.

Never in the history of American horse raising has there been such a demand for animals as exists today. Breeders and buyers alike are reaping fortunes. One firm located in Missouri is shipping an average of 4000 horses per month to the Canadian border and is employing 50 buyers to scour the central and mountain western states to secure animals. High as is the price today breeders are holding back and in confidence buyers themselves tell you that by winter time they expect to see the average price raise to $200.

The demand is becoming more pressing every week. Italy, within the last few days has contracted with an Oklahoma firm for 25,000, while Great Britain and France have lifted the lid on any previous limitations of their contracts. They will take all that are offered.

The average life of a horse at the front is said to be just ten days.

Some of the best bred horses of the west have already been sold and before snow flies many more are going.

"I bought a pacer today," said a young horse buyer who makes Missouri and Kansas his territory, "for $500, for the English army. That horse had a record of 2:07 on the Grand Circuit and his pedigree went back as far as you could see. If this war keeps up for another year it will take American horsemen a decade to build up the American horse to the standard it kept before this war broke out."

"We buyers get five dollars a head for every horse we buy. There are 47 men buying horses for my firm. In all there are about 250 buyers now tripping about the west looking for stuff to feed the machine guns in Flanders. I average about eighty horses a week although I bought 200 one week not long ago. That's making a fairly good salary for me. Before this war broke out I thought that $25 a week as manager for a Missouri livery stable was great business. All of the old gang that used to follow the strings about the tracks in the summer and hang out around the yards in Chicago and St. Louis and Kansas City in the winter are in the horse buying game today and living on easy street. Why, say, I met an old pal of mine in Des Moines who took me up to the Commercial Savings bank and showed me a balance of $50,000 in his favor. He hadn't been making a real good living for the last ten years and now he's fixed for life on what he's cleared on the market in the last ten months."

"July 1st my firm made one of the biggest single shipments of horses ever put on cars. We got hold of 1000 head on the Mexican border at $60 a head and sold them to Great Britain for about $175 each. "The British government has two horse 'resting stations' in the United States. One of these is at Boone, Iowa, and the other is at Englewood, Ill., near Chicago. We ship most of our animals to Vancouver, B. C., where the English take them over. I understand they are shipped via the Suez canal."

"The American army is getting into the game now and I have an order for both horses and mules for the U. S. A. However, the American officers maintain the old standards and we take care that our best stock goes to Uncle Sam."

GOOD YIELD OF WHEAT.
One of the best wheat yields in Rush county was reported Saturday. A. C. Stevens, who lives on the T. H. Reed and Son farm a short distance east of Rushville, raised 1,491 bushels of wheat off of fifty-eight acres, the total crop. It averaged twenty-six bushels to the acre and weighed sixty pounds to the bushel, showing it to be a good grade.

CATCHING TUBERCULOSIS OR INFECTION.

To the man who works for his living falling sick with tuberculosis means a very real danger not only to his own life but to the lives of his wife and children as well. His wealthier neighbors may lay aside his routine cares and "take the cure" for tuberculosis without materially affecting his family's health or income. The consumptive workman on the other hand must give up his job and with it his only income, and at the same time he is frequently compelled to remain at home, a constant source of danger to his family, unless he is properly instructed. It may save you who read this article considerable money and suffering if you learn from it how to avoid the entrance of tuberculosis into your body.

Tuberculosis is infectious and communicable from one person to another. It differs in some respects from scarlet fever, measles, or smallpox, so-called "contagious" diseases, in that tuberculosis requires repeated exposures and certain special conditions to pass the germs from the sick to the well. It is not inherited but must be communicated through one of the following sources from one person to another:

(1) The infection is derived in the very large majority of cases from the sputum discharged from "open" or ulcerated tubercles in the lungs.

(2) A certain number of persons, chiefly infants, estimated variously from one to ten per cent of all cases, receive the infection from the milk of tuberculous cows.

(3) A very few others may possibly obtain the infection from the urine and fecal discharges of consumptives or from the pus joints or other parts of the body which are the seat of ulcerating tuberculosis.

(4) In a few extremely rare instances the infection is conveyed through the blood of the mother to an unborn child, but the offspring seldom survive long.

(5) No infection can be conveyed from tuberculosis of the "closed" or non-ulcerated variety, or after ulcerations are completely healed.

With regard to the manner of infection, still bearing in mind, that tuberculosis must be communicated from one person to another, we find that by far the most frequent mode of infection is by inhalation; the second is by swallowing, and the least common, by inoculation of a wound or abrasion. Considering each of these modes of infection a little more carefully, we learn that:

(1) The bacilli are inhaled most often in dust. The dust is most often contaminated by careless spitting; but the germs may also be given out in the act of coughing (with the mouth unprotected) or hawking, sneezing, loud talking, singing or laughing. Quiet breathing carries no infection.

(2) The bacilli may be swallowed with food which has been contaminated with infected hands or otherwise, and also with the milk, butter and other dairy products derived from cows suffering from bovine tuberculosis.

(3) Inoculation by the infection of cuts, scratches or abrasions is not frequently observed.

While no age, race or class is immune against infection from tuberculosis, children are more susceptible than anyone else. At the age of 15, frequently as high as 75 per cent of the population may show the presence of the germs, though not that many may be sick with tuberculosis. In view, however, of the fact that these germs may lay quiet in the body of the child for years, until with unfavorable surroundings his resistance is lowered, causing the disease to develop, it is extremely important that fathers and mothers do everything possible to keep their children from danger of infection in their earlier years.

Everything should be done at home to keep the child rugged and healthy. The father and mother, whether they have tuberculosis or not, should be scrupulously careful in their habits of spitting and person hygiene. The working father owes it not only to his own health, but to that of his children to avoid tuberculosis in every possible way.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. JUST ONE WEEK UNTIL ASSEMBLY

Rapidity With Which Season Tickets Are Selling Indicates Interest in This Year's Chautauqua.

1,150 TICKETS WERE ISSUED

Officials of the chautauqua and others are recalling that but one week will elapse before the annual Rush county chautauqua opens in the Coliseum in the city park. Season tickets are selling with such rapidity that it is apparent the people of the city and county appreciate the class of talent which the chautauqua management is offering patrons this year. The chance to get a guarantor ticket at $1.50 will soon slip past, it was advocated, so that those who contemplate procuring a ticket for that sum had better hurry. When they are all gone, there will be no chance to get a ticket for less than two dollars.

There were one hundred and fifteen guarantors this year. Each took ten season tickets. There isn't any doubt now but that all of them will be sold, which means that each program at the chautauqua is sure of a crowd near one thousand people even though there were no single admissions.

Touch of Red Seems Absolutely Essential to Smart Damsel

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

Said Susie Smith to Beulah Brown Just think my mother's hair

In just one night Was turned pure white Because she had a scare. Said Beulah Brown to Susie Smith That's nothing, my ma's head In half a day Or less they say Was turned from black to red.

New York, July 24.—A touch of red seems absolutely essential to the smart damsel these days whether it is a scarlet flower in the lapel of her coat suit or sweater, a strand of red coral around her throat or a henna glint in her hair. Indeed, the henna glint is as necessary an adjunct to the finished product of the turned out woman as in her pair of slays. You simply can't see a well coiffured head nowadays without without seeing red.

These burnished coppery tresses are achieved by rinsing the hair after an herb of henna wash. If you wish to go the limit and emerge with your crowning glory absolutely enameled then the obliging hair dresser will give you what she calls an herb or henna paste.

Over in London they do you more thoroughly by smearing your locks with a henna paste that is put on hot and is of the consistency of soft mud just to obtain the glint effects. For a thorough redding up you get what they call an application which means the same smear more generously applied and allowed to remain a much longer time according to the depth of ruddy shade desired.

Women are all making up for quantity with quality in hair these days for with the simple skimpy coiffure of the moment unless the hair look glossy, healthy and well cared for the result is most distressing. With no false puffs, curls or frizzing to detract from Nature's dower it is up to midday to make the best of what she has. The universally popular French twist is gradually twisting itself out of favor and the style of hair dressing that is for the nonce ahead is a simple tight little knot at the nape of the neck. The hair, if you have perfect features, is brushed straight back from your noble brow and gathered uncompromisingly into the tight little knot behind. If, however, your features are not exactly up to artistic standards you may part your hair loosely in the middle or on your best side and then draw it into the tight little bun.

For once much good is resulting from a fad of fashion. The necessity care of the hair to make it show up well in the simple "do" of the moment is a benefit, yea verily. Frequent scalp massage, scientific treatments, strenuous brushing, not to mention the tonic effect of the herb and henna washes are bound to regenerate the scant locks of today into a luxuriant crop for tomorrow. Haste then and hie you to the henna if you are a wise woman. Begin to red up immediately. If you would be the pink of perfection you certainly must have pink hair.

Don't let anybody string you this summer but if they want to yarn you its all right. Yarn as a garnishment on frock and hat adds a striking new touch to the summer styles. A single strand of bright hued yarn in long slanting stitches finishes the edge of many a stunning wide brimmed hat of felt and velvet for late summer or early Fall wear. In like manner the single yarn strands in short and long stitch or button hole stitch finishes the edge of silken flounce and frill on many a frock where the picot edge erstwhile reigned supreme.

Linen frocks are especially smart with the yarn stitching and braided lengths of yarn are worn as girdles and as hat bands withchie results. It certainly makes an effective trimming and a good little yarn as well.

The Final Word.

"Deliberately unfriendly" were the last words used in the American note to Germany, which was made public last night, and those two words are the keynote to the document. In a nutshell, they express the sentiment of the United States in regard of German submarine attacks on vessels in contravention of the rights of neutrals.

There seems to be no question but that the American reply at hand will put an end to the evasive tactics of Germany. It calls for a direct answer. The United States makes it plain that it can not accept the suggestions made by Germany in its last note on the Lusitania case in which it sets up other things in order to evade the real issues.

Says the note:

"The government of the United States, while not indifferent to the friendly spirit in which it is made, can not accept the suggestion of the imperial German government that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall be free on the seas now illegally proscribed. The very agreement would by implication subject other vessels to illegal attack and would be a curtailment and therefore an abandonment of the principles for which this government contends and which in times of calmer counsels every nation would concede as of course."

That ought to be plain enough.

Furthermore, the Washington government tries to emphasize that international law is international law and that it can not be twisted into inconceivable shapes to suit the requirements of the occasion, from a German viewpoint.

"The rights of neutrals in time of war," says the American answer, "are based upon principle, not upon expediency, and the principles are immutable. It is the duty and obligation of belligerents to find a way to adapt the new circumstances to them."

The note is brief and to the point. It discusses the questions at issue concisely and calls for a similar answer from Germany.

The alleged "political dopest" from Richmond, who is the first to open the season for political predictions, goes to some length in his oracular statements concerning the Republican race for congress in the sixth district. There seems to be one fact on which the whole story is built—that Pat Lynch will be a candidate for the nomination—and he has admitted that. As to the others mentioned—an there are strings of them—no one knows. It would be a safe wager, though, that the "dopester" is wrong on one guess. He says Judge Sparks may be a candidate.

A Henry county farmer has gone bankrupt. Can that be possible with wheat at one dollar and corn at seventy-five cents!

The Republican party having control of the reins of government during the War of the Rebellion, the great task of reconstruction naturally fell upon its shoulders, and the performance of this task drew into its ranks some of the ablest statesmen that any nation has ever produced. The ability of the Republican party to manage the affairs of the country was made apparent by the rapidity with which the work of reconstruction progressed and by the vast strides that the country has made in development along all lines.

Being in favor of a Protective Tariff the Republican party has long been a protector of the big business interests of the country, and the bulk of the country's wealth and business being in the North, the G. O. P. party's strength located itself there. On the other hand the Democratic party has depended upon the South for the major portion of its strength and whenever it has been in control Southern ideas and principles have prevailed much to the detriment of the country.

Three different times the Democratic party has been in power since the Civil War, and each of the three Democratic administrations has been marked by the same Tariff tinkering and other anti-business legislation and each one has resulted disastrously for both party and nation.

The present administration created greater havoc than any preceding administration only because its leaders were more determined in their anti-business policies. The great bulk of its legislation has been aimed at business, and the American people are now repenting of the "1912 folly" in sackcloth and ashes. Southern ideas of business have again been put into practice and the wheels of industry refuse to turn. Wilson's administration has cost the country more from a business standpoint than did the War of the Rebellion, and as Lee's surrender marked the end of the Southern confederacy's attempt to separate herself from the Union, so will the close of the present Democratic regime mark the end of Southern anti-business hostilities.

As Lincoln, Grant and Sherman sat in conference a half century ago business leaders are now sitting in conference regarding the close of the war between "Big Business" and Miss Democracy and as Lee's army dodged back and forth during the last few days of existence as an armed force, Wilson and his supporters are even now darting from one alibi to another to escape the consequences of their Tariff tinkering and anti-business legislation.

Recent Census Bulletin Showing Growth of South From 1900 to 1912 Food For Reflection

Entire Period of Development Under Republican Regime And a Protective Tariff

Washington, July 24.—Democrats are daily attesting the efficiency of Republican policies in developing the resources and industries of the United States. A recent census bulletin showing the growth of the productive interests of the South between 1900 and 1912 gives food for reflection.

The South's capital invested in manufacturers increased in twelve years from $1,408,866,000 to $3,500,000,000 or 148 per cent. The value of out put grew from $1,860,113,000 to $3,900,000,000 or 109 per cent.

The number of cotton spindles increased from 4,467,383 to 11,858,600, the number of looms from 113,106 to 252,000, and the amount of cotton used from 749,915,966 to 1,319,708,000 pounds.

The production of pig iron jumped from 2,642,720 to 3,954,980 tons. The lumber cut increased from 14,444,965,000 to 21,607,519,000 board feet, or by 49 per cent.

The capital invested in agriculture comprising investments in land, buildings machinery and livestock, grew from $5,262,279,000 to $12,102,000,000, or 129 per cent.

The value of agricultural products increased from $1,564,069,000 to $3,397,000,000, the equivalent of 110 per cent. The value of mineral output jumped 209 per cent.

Railroad mileage increased from 61,880, to 90,930; national bank resources from $705,282,000 to $2,112,717,000 or 199 per cent; national bank capital from $106,504,000 to $242,800,000 or 127 per cent, and deposits in National banks jumped from $334,650,000 to $1,059,068,000 or 216 per cent.

The entire period of this development was under the Republican regime, with a protective tariff in operation. It explains the reason why the South is being weaned away from the free trade notions which nurtured her when she was almost wholly an agricultural section. It also indicates the forces which must have been brought to bear on the Democratic tariff wreckers when the Underwood-Wilson tariff law was being framed, which gave the South all the best of the deal.

HOOSIER HISTORY

Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial department of the Indiana Historical commission.

Snakes Alive!

The "snake in the grass" was one of the early enemies of the pioneers. Besides the varieties that were venomous, there were also many others as large, but not poisonous, that were even more aggressive. "Many persons, in different sections of the country, besides a large number of cattle and horses during the summer suffered from the poisonous fangs of these venomous reptiles which infested every portion of the country.

Early in the Spring and late fall certain localities seemed to teem with these scaly reptiles, while other places became comparatively free from them." Search was made in the badly infested districts and two snake dens were located in 1827—8 one in the vicinity of Lafayette. The surrounding neighborhood were called on for help and a great killing of torpid rattlesnakes took place. The hogs devoured many of them and gallons of oil was extracted from others—their skins saved to cure those chronic disorders "for which they were deemed a wonderful specific." After a few annual clean-ups such as this it is said that the country was comparatively rid of the poisonous reptiles.

United States Should Have All Gems For Years to Come Because of Purchasing Power.

MINES IN AFRICA CLOSED

London, June 26 (By Mail)—The United States will have a corner on diamonds for years to come.

Information at hand in the British foreign office today shows that America is practically the only country in the world buying diamonds and the American appetite for them is amazing. Hundreds of thousands of sparklers are being exported from Germany to America via Holland. When war broke out a Berlin Syndicate which bought the bulk of West African diamonds had in stock a million and a half carats. These have been cut at low rates by craftsmen in Belgium and disposed of almost wholly to the United States.

Less than a year ago the syndicate that controls the output of the De Beers and Jagersfontein African mines had a stock of four million carats. Since war was declared the mines have been idle but the syndicate has not. It has exported the greater part of its stock to the United States.

Practically all diamond mines in Africa have closed down, their engineering staffs have been disabled and their native laborers discharged. Experts agree that there will be a marked shortage of diamonds after the war except in America.

 KING ALBERT HIT HARD
* BY WAR BECOMES SILENT ***

Hayre, France, June 26: (By Mail)—The weight of war is telling heavily on King Albert of Belgium, according to those in the councils of the monarch. The King is more becoming a man of silence as the heavy days pass on, it is said.

At a recent meeting of his army councillors, the King is reported to have spoken but three phrases. Once he said "I agree;" once "I do not agree;" and lastly he expressed in briefest form an idea of his own.

The King is ever on the move visiting his army or superintending war moves. He seldom sees his family.

PYTHIAN TEAM IS EASY WINNER

Knights of Pythias in Fraternal
League 6 to 2.

Inability to Solve His Delivery Responsible For Defeat of Knights of Columbus.

The Knights of Pythias team in the fraternal league won a well played game from the K. of C. team Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 2. Inability to hit Conde, the Knights of Pythias pitcher, was largely responsible for the downfall of the K. of C. team. Two scattered hits were the best that the "Irish" could gather and outside of the third inning never had a chance.

The game was really a good one and deserved a better attendance. The K. of C. team was the first to score counting their only two runs in the third inning. An error, a single and a base on balls were responsible for the run. The K. of P. infield played good ball, some sensational stops being made by Eddie Carter, an old favorite with Rushville fans.

The K. of C. team failed to hold the lead of two runs as in the very next frame the Pythian team "got to" Willie Fitzgerald for three runs. The K. of C. infield failed to display usual pep. With a runner on first and one on second, McKee threw to Coyne, to make a double and it would have been easy but Joyce and Coyne muffed up the play and all three men were safe.

Outside of the third inning the K. of C. team never had a chance with Conde and only one man reached second base. In the fifth the K. of P.'s filed the bases but succeeded in scoring only one run. Camp led off with a single. Carter drew a walk and Tompkins was safe on Fitzgerald's error, filling the bases. McGuire forced Camp at the plate, McKee to O'Neil and Carter scored when O'Neil threw to first to head off McGuire. Tompkins was then caught going to third, B. Conde made the third out by grounding to Fitzgerald.

The next game of the fraternal league will be played next Friday between the Elks and Red Men.

HUMANE SOCIETY IS ON WARPATH

Lake County People Getting After Fathers Who Use "Slave-Like"
Tactics on Children.

Hammond, Ind., July 24.—The Lake County Humane society is aroused and is on the warpath today looking for fathers and husbands who persist in using "slave-like tactics" on their daughters and wives. A number of cases where children and wives have been brutally beaten have been reported to the society.

The most striking case was discovered last week when in a hot, stuffy attic, a nine-year-old girl was found with her arms and legs black and covered with open sores, the result of a whipping administered by her father. The society is now investigating the report that a prominent Hammond politician is in the habit of whipping his wife and father.

CEDAR LAKE HITS "SAW-DUST" TRAIL

Takes on Appearance of Winona, Moody Church in Charge

Cedar Lake, Ind., July 24.—The famous Cedar Lake summer resort has in the terms of the Baseball Evangelist Billy Sunday "hit the sawdust trail." Instead of the wide-open saloons and the scene of wild week-end revels of Chicagoans it is becoming a second Winona. Tonight the first annual conference of the Moody church Assembly begins here and will continue until August 1.

The grounds which were secured by the Moody church last year will be formally opened by the conference which is expected to attract hundreds from Chicago and Northern Indiana. The assembly will be similar to those at Winona Lake and Northfield. The organization has strong financial backing and its growth seems certain.

The conference has taken the name of "Restawhile." A number of prominent speakers will appear on the program.

GAME GOOD IN SOUTHERN PART

Semi-Pro Ball is Flourishing in This

Section of Indiana—Playing
Good Article of Ball

Washington, Tell City and Carlisle
Seem to Have Edge on Other Teams in That Part

BY C. McCORMICK.

Princeton, Ind., July 24.—Southern Indiana semi-pro baseball is going good this season, and the figures and the class of players indicate its article of ball will measure up with that of either central or northern Indiana. Evansville is the nucleus of southern Indiana semi-pros, particularly in the southwest part of the state, and dozens of men of league and fast amateur experience go out of there each Sunday as members of south Indiana, south Illinois and western Kentucky teams.

The rural districts and smaller cities and towns, however, are not behind in the production of future diamond stars. Ed Rousch, Oakland City boy now shining in the Federal league, was playing the second sack for Princeton three years ago.

The fact that Southern and Northern Indiana teams rarely meet has given many upstate sports the idea that the south end of Hoosierdom produces nothing worth while, but it is hoped in the next season or two to stage tournaments that will give opportunity for a fair comparison of Indiana's semi-pro teams from end to end of the state.

Washington, Carlisle, Evansville, Boonville, New Albany, Cannelton, Tell City, Jasper, Bicknell, Bedford, and Princeton are all good representatives of the south "point" of the state, with Brazil, Linton and a number of other teams in the Terre Haute territory.

The Princeton team under the management of A. L. Gibson, and which has played practically the same lineup for three years, is again this season claiming state championship calibre. In 1913 it won 23 consecutive games. It went even stronger last year, though not consecutively and won an elimination event for Southern Indiana's honors, then at Vincennes at the season's close played the Lafayette Red Sox—the Red Sox being made up of the cream of the Lafayette, Peru and Kokomo teams—and defeated them 1 to 0. This game was played with the Indiana championship at stake, and on that ground Princeton claimed it for 1914. Princeton is going stronger this season and has been defeated but once, that by an out of state team, Mt. Carmel, Ill.

The Washington Greys play classy ball. Though recently in a slump, they are going like a house afire again. The Carlisle White Sox are an unusually fast team and capable of holding their own in any company among semi-pros. The New Albany Glenwoods under Johnny Ray present the fastest club on the Ohio river playing independent ball. Cannelton and Tell City are always dangerous. "Big Six" Leingraber, of Tell City is pitching wonderful ball against all comers and probably holds the south Indiana strike-out record. A strong road team is the Jasper Reds. Evansville supports several semi-pro teams, and among them the Ritters and the Athletics are able to give any opponent a hard fight.

MRS. KATE WOLFE DIES AT MARION

Former Resident of Carthage, Well Known Here, Expires After Brief Illness at Age of 63.

PROMINENT IN THE W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Allen R. Holden received word of the death this morning of Mrs. Kate Wolfe of Marion. Mrs. Wolfe was the widow of the late Jacob Wolfe and they formerly lived in Carthage. Mrs. Wolfe was well known here. Mrs. Wolfe was a sister of Charles Robinson, of Greenfield. She is survived by four sons, and one daughter. Short services will be held at the late residence in Marion Monday morning and the remains will be brought to Morristown where short services will be held at ten o'clock Tuesday morning. Burial will take place in Asbury cemetery.

Mrs. Wolfe was sixty-three years of age. She was known throughout the state as a worker in the Women's Christian Temperance Union. She was a lifelong member of the Methodist church. Mrs. Wolfe was born in Fountaintown, Ind., and moved to Marion fifteen years ago. Death came after a brief illness.

BARBERSHOP TRANSFERRED

Cause For Receivership Suit Brought by Smiley Removed.

The receivership suit of Gale Smiley against Lawrence Cummings, involving the barber shop in West Second street, which was to have been heard Saturday morning, failed to come up because Cummings has turned the shop back to Smiley. The suit was based on a note for $100 and Cummings left this city following the arrest of Charles Sweet, on a "bootlegging" charge. Cummings is said to be in Shelbyville and yesterday assigned the property over the Smiley, the original owner. It was stated today that the receivership suit would be dismissed.

FOR SURETY OF PEACE.

Stephen Borders, 826 West Second street, was arrested this afternoon, on surety of peace proceedings filed by his son-in-law. Borders is said to have created a lot of excitement in that section of the city by chasing a man with a butcher knife. Chief Rosencrance found four large butcher knives and three smaller knives in easy reach of Borders when the arrest was made.

Wilson Will Outline Program on Return From Cornish

Washington, July 24.—President Wilson will map out on his return from Cornish "a fair, reasonable and practical" program of national defense, the white house announced today. This program will be based upon conferences between the president and the secretaries of the navy and war. During his stay at Cornish the president will devote much of his time to defense problem, it was stated.

GERMAN ATTITUDE UNKNOWN

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
U. P. Staff Correspondent

Berlin, (By way of The Hague), July, 24.—Official circles here today refused to comment in any way on the latest American note in the controversy over German submarine operations. The text of President Wilson's communication probably will be published in the late edition of the afternoon Berlin newspapers and until publication has been made it will be impossible to gauge the German attitude since the newspapers here do not accept the English forecasts as accurate.

London, July 24.—The British press today practically without exception applauded the latest American note to Germany. Brief editorial comment preceding the published text emphasized the firmness of President Wilson's missive and declared that Germany must now either back down or be prepared for grave consequences.

It is pointed out that the procedures is so complicated and the rules so strict that the employer would find it cheaper to buy compensation insurance than attempt to qualify to pay his own damages for injuries to employees.

It is further advocated by insurance company representatives that it is illegal for the industrial board to exempt all political divisions from the operations of the law because the law says that all employers, without any exceptions whatever, shall be governed by its provisions. It is contended that the board has no power to exempt anyone. The state board of accounts has sent out a statement holding that municipalities and all other public officials do not have to abide by the law in regard to their employees. It is said that this point will soon be raised and settled by the courts.

of water. The upper side stood up five feet above the surface and from the state rooms in that portion came the cries for help.

The North Clark street bridge was choked with persons on their way to work when the accident occurred. Friends and relatives of many who were going on the excursion lined the bridge railing, waiting for the boat to leave.

Captain Charles Carland, of the United States life saving station at the mouth of the river, hurried with his crew to the scene and aided in the rescue as did dozens of tugs and other river craft.

The first boy received was identified as that of Mrs. Peter Kommer. Her two sons were believed to be lost. Her husband was saved.

Firemen chopped a hole in the side of the cabin and recovered the body of Mrs. Kommer.

Private motor cars and wagons were pressed into service in transporting the injured to hospitals. The police were summoned to the scene from a score of outlying stations.

Police drove the thousands of persons who crowded the Clark and Wells street bridge from the structures for fear that they would collapse.

Eyewitnesses said that the boat turned gradually and that when it began to tip the crowd rushed and slid toward the side that had settled in the water. The big steamer, weighted by the rush of its passengers, turned clear over on its side.

Captain Pedersen, of the Eastland, who was on the bridge when the boat turned over, insisted that not more than fifteen or twenty were drowned. He said an "air shoot" broke, letting in tons of water on the left side of the vessel, which is now lying on her side in the middle of the river.

Despite Pedersen's estimate of read, William J. Plamondon, nephew of Charles Plamondon, who sank when the Lusitania was torpedoed, and who was a passenger on the Eastland, with his wife and two cousins, declared that at least 100 and perhaps more, were drowned or were imprisoned in staterooms and below decks on the left side of the ship.

Captain Pedersen admitted that there were 2,000 passengers on board. He said the boat's capacity is 2,070.

Deputy Coroner Forsberg early reached the scene and assumed charge with police reserves.

(By United Press.)
Chicago, July 24.—After completing a tour of all temporary morgues
at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, Superintendent Schnettler said he had
would reach fifteen or eighteen hundred persons.

Washington, July 24.—Assistant
secretary Hoover of the federal steamship investigating bureau designed Ira B. Mansfield and William Nicholas, respectively hull and boiler inspectors of the bureau's Chicago branch, to investigate the East-

Chicago, July 24.—Six hundred
bodies, victims of the Eastland
steamer disaster, had been taken from the Chicago river and vouched for by a police censor at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. First Deputy Police Superintendent Schnettler gave out the figures.

"There are at least 700 bodies
still in the steamer hulk or in the river," said Schnettler. "The 600 bodies now accounted for included 353 bodies that are at the temporary Reid-Murdock morgue alone."

At least 600 were drowned with
every indication pointing to over 1,000 when the steamer Eastland
sank in Chicago river early today.
This was the estimate of police and
employees of the Western Electric
company on a vacation trip.

been cut into the upturned sides of
the vessel. A score of men were car-
could be placed ashore.

company declared that several departments in which only girls were
departments where only girls and
women were employed were assigned to the Eastland.

Dr. T. A. Carter told a United Press representative that he had
counted 400 dead. Dr. Carter was assigned to the work of feeling the
pulse of those brought ashore.
Those with any sign of life were
were taken to hastily prepared
morgues.

I examined," said Dr. Carter.

The arrest of Captain Pederson
and First Mate Fisher was ordered.
Police charged that both officers had
hampered rescue work. As 10,000 persons saw Pederson led away there was a near riot and he was struck.

A card system was installed at noon to aid in identifying bodies.
This work went forward very slowly
Former Alderman F. W. Taylor

said the Eastland had been condemned and rebuilt six years ago
because its center of gravity was
not right. He demanded a complete and merciless investigation.

Big warehouses were turned into
morgues. Injured and dazed victims
with their clothes partly torn off before they were found and sent to
rows until they could be removed to
morgues.

The Eastland was carrying 2,000 souls—within seventy of her capacity.

The catastrophe is believed to have resulted when hundreds of the vaca-
wave farewells to friends on the pier.

made by Deputy Police Superintendent Schnettler, who personally counted the bodies taken to the steamer Theodore Roosevelt and to the improvised morgues.

Scores are believed to have been
crushed into the muddy bottom of
the river by the weight of the boat.
Other scores could be heard pounding and screaming for help imprisoned in the state room. Officials of the St. Joe line, owners of the ship,
ordered workmen to cut open the
bottom and side in hopes of rescuing those imprisoned.

Eastland was regarded as a trap by
many and that in Cleveland condemnation proceedings were threatened
the boat listed badly.

other boats by the Indiana Transportation company to carry western
City, Ind., today.

Many of the victims were women
water with bodies that for an hour after the catastrophe rescuers passed by those believed to be dead, to save the living.

was sadly retarded. Although every available pump was rushed to the pier, many died after reaching shore.

Lack of water ballast was blamed
for the list by some while Captain Peterson said a broken aid shoot let
in water.

LUCAS ADMITS HIS GUILT TO MAYOR

"Bootlegger" is Fined $50 and Sentenced to 150 Days at State

Robert Lucas, arrested Friday on a "blind tiger" charge, changed his plea this afternoon to guilty and was
Mayor Bebout. Lucas decided this afternoon not to fight the case and
court. The fine of $50 is the minimum under the law.

Mayor Bebout told Lucas that the
community expected him to serve out
the sentence as there was no clemency expected to be shown "bootleggers" and that any one dealing in
the illegal sale of liquor here could
expect to serve time at the state
the $800 bond and after thinking the
matter over decided that the police
had the "goods" on him.

Elevator Men Suffering Considerable Loss This Year Because of Unfavorable Weather.

Causes Loss of at Least Five Cents
Grain When it Was Wet.

confronted with the serious problem
of damp wheat here this year to a greater extent than in many years.
The elevator men have to take
bushel drying the grain so that it

amount of moisture during the harvest season. Its a rare shock of wheat that did not get a drenching
this year before it was sent through
the threshing machine to be separated from the grain. The rain is not
costing the farmers as much as the
elevator men.

Many of the grain dealers contracted for wheat at a dollar a bushel. Some farmers attempted to let their grain dry out before they
threshed it, but others, rather than
take a chance on drying the grain,
threshed it anyway, causing much
wet grain to be thrown on the market.

Elevator men can not deliver wet
wheat and expect to get the market
price. They have to dry it out first.
his elevator right now was moist.
This necessitates a night shift of
men and added expense for power.

planned not to handle damp wheat,
but when competitors accepted it in
almost impossible to dry wheat thoroughly in the bin.

market now is all that remains of
what was predicted as a "bumper"
wheat crop. In the early stages of its growth, the crop had all the car-marks of one of the best crops in the history of Rush county. The
conditions last winter were ideal, according to farmers, and the spring
weather could not have been much better. But the rains came while the grain was in the shock and farmers listened to the arguments of thresh-
ers—who are hurried to get the crop
poor condition.

There are a few good fields being
reported, however, and some good
yields are known to have been made.
One crop completed today averaged twenty-six bushels to the acre of
sixty-pound wheat.

Much of the wheat has not been
threshed. The crop is way behind
almost impossible to enter until this
week on account of the mucky con-

BOY DISAPPEARS.

(By United Press.)
Newcastle, Ind., July 24.—Dewey Williams, age sixteen years, son of Alonzo Williams, a Newcastle city councilman, disappeared from the home of his grandmother at Mooreland last night. A wide search is being made for him. No cause is known for his disappearance.

Them Not to Sell Liquor or

ginning Fiscal Year July 1.

"Wet" picnics and summer camps
in addition to evading the local police because the sale of liquor is
for federal revenue agents because it has been announced that Peter J.
Kruyer, collector of internal revenue
for this district, has sent out letters
to his division agents directing them
to investigate all picnics and camp
to see if they are violating the federal law.

If the federal agents find liquor
is being sold, they will demand the
fee of $25 a year or the person or persons selling the booze will face
prosecution in the federal court.
Mr. Kruyer is the collector for forty-nine Indiana counties, one of which is Rush county.

By the order of the collector, then,
the old custom of picnic grove owners giving organizations picnicking
be tolerated by the federal government only on condition the promoters
of the picnic pay the government
liquor tax.

Summer camps, too, exist in many
places for practically the sole purpose of selling liquor. These must
make a settlement with the government. Such camps are said to have been plentiful near Rushville the last few years.

Mr. Kruyer says that the Indianapolis beer camps gave him the first tip as to some revenue that was shipping through the internal revenue department unpaid. When it was brought out last year that liquor was
being sold in camps, the collector
sent his men out and, verifying the
reports, collected $25 at each of the camps.

After collecting from the Indianapolis camps, the collector sent word to his deputies in other parts of the state directing them to search for
found and the year ended with a few hundred dollars being added to the
revenue department's collections.

Collector Kruyer has also announced that more than six hundred
physicians in his district are liable
to prosecution under the anti-narcotic law unless they register according to the provisions of that
are approximately six hundred less doctors in the district who have registered for the fiscal year beginning July 1 than there were registered when the law became effective last March.

When the law became effective in March, something less than 6,000
physicians in the Indianapolis revenue district registered under the requirements of the law for the balance of the fiscal year, which ended
register again for the present fiscal year, Mr. Kruyer explained, and he added that agents of the department
will be at work to prosecute those
who fail to do so.

Members of the Knights of Py-
thias lodge will meet at the hall Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, at
the request of the Amos family and
the Milroy lodge, to attend the funeral of Amos Winship.

Point Out Section of Workmen's

Rejects The Law

Following a discussion of points
of interest in the Indiana workmen's compensation law in the Daily Republican Friday evening, in which
it was set forth that employers
could reject the law if they saw fit,
local representatives of compensation insurance companies Saturday
were calling attention to the fact the
law provided in case an employer
elected not to operate under the
statute, he could not use a defense
much-used and over-worked contributory negligence.

It was further pointed out that although the law says in so many
want to insure with a regular company having the power to do compensation business, he must furnish
satisfactory proof of his ability to
pay in case of mishap befalling his
employees, the "red tape" surrounding such proof required by the board
under the law, is so cumbersome that
the clause is practically negligible and
it becomes almost imperative for the
employers to take out compensation
insurance. This is the opinion of local representatives of insurance companies empowered to do compensation business, and it is also the opinion of many other people.

The law becomes effective the first
of September and for that reason
employers are giving the law considerable study.

Attention was called today to section ten of the first part of the law,
classified as "Hurts and Remedies,"
which says:

"Every employer who elects not
to operate under this act shall not
in any suit at law by an employee to
recover damages for personal injury
or death by accident be permitted to defend any such suit at law upon
any one or all of the following
grounds: (a) that the employee was negligent; (b) that the injury was
caused by the negligence of a fellow employee; (c) that the employee

Representatives of insurance companies assert that this section makes
it imperative that employees take advantage of the law, otherwise they will be left with no defense in case
of accident befalling one of the employees.

On the other hand, those who
contemplate rejecting the operations
of the new law, have fallen back on
section is unconstitutional because
no law can nullify a basic principle
of law, namely, that the question
of contributory negligence may enter in any damage suit regardless of what the workmen's compensation
law may say.

Insurance company representa-
"Rules of Procedure Before Industrial Board," which were issued by the board created by the law, regarding the clause which says employees need not take out insurance
if they can furnish satisfactory
of injury to their employees.

Rule sixteen says that any employer "desiring a certificate of his
financial ability to pay compensation
direct, without insurance, shall file
with the Industrial Board, upon the form prescribed by such Board, his

NOTE DOES NOT CALL FOR REPLY

It Opens Way For Germany to As-
Law Will be Obeyed.

FINAL WORD IS EXPRESSED

Berlin May Disavow Sinking of Lus-

Washington, July 24.—With the publication today of the note warning Germany that any repetition of
acts by her submarine commanders
in violation of American rights would
be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly," the United States government awaited further developments.

The note does not necessarily call
for a reply. It leaves the way open,
however, for an answer from Germany disavowing the sinking of the Lusitania and offering reparation,
submitting assurances as to the future actions of her naval officers and
even asking directly for mediation
by the United States between the German and British governments on
the general subject of warfare on the seas.

The use in the note of the phrase
"deliberately unfriendly" is viewed
here as expressing the final word of the United States government regarding Germany's submarine warfare. The United States does not abate in any respect, but rather more strongly insists on the demands made
in previous notes that Germany acquiesce in its views that the rules of
international law and humanity be obeyed in her naval warfare.

The United States government can
not believe, the note says, that "the imperial government will longer refrain from disavowing the wanton
acts of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania," and making reparation for the lives of Americans
in that disaster. It announces that the government will continue to contend for the freedom of the seas
from whatever quarter violated,
without compromise and at any
cost."

The note also invites the practical co-operation of the German government.

Our Own Emerson

Emerson might have said:
"Advertising is the expression of a man's pride in his product."
No man with good goods or good service to sell keeps quiet.
He is too self-confident, too enthusiastic.
He wants every one to share his pride and to benefit by what he has to offer.
If he is wise he chooses news-

Through it he hears the satisfying sound of the echo at his

Officials of the chautauqua and others are recalling that but one week will elapse before the annual Rush county chautauqua opens in the Coliseum in the city park. Season tickets are selling with such rapidity that it is apparent the people of the city and county appreciate the class of talent which the chautauqua management is offering patrons this year. The chance to get a guarantors ticket at $1.50 will soon slip past, it was advocated, so that those who contemplate procuring a ticket for that sum had better hurry. When they are all gone, there will be no chance to get a ticket for less than two dollars.

There were one hundred and fifteen guarantors this year. Each took ten season tickets. There isn't any doubt now but that all of them will be sold, which means that each program at the chautauqua is sure of a crowd near one thousand people even though there were no single admissions.

STANDARD FOR HORSE LOWERED

Anything That Can Walk On Four Legs And Weighs Above 1,000 Pounds Can "Get Into Army"

(By United Press.)
Chillicothe, Mo., July 24.—All of the carefully formulated restrictions that used to control the purchasing of horses for the armies of Europe have gone by the boards.

There was a period during the first month or two of the great conflict that the cavalry officers of the allies, detailed to the United States to secure animals for use on the fighting front, made a brave effort to maintain their old standards. A horse had to weigh at least 1300 pounds, be so many hands high, be free of blemish, both internal and external have a showy foot action and show evidences of high spirit. But now all that sort of thing is of the past. Anything that can weigh up to 1000 pounds and walk on four ostensibly sound legs can get past in flying colors.

Never in the history of American horse raising has there been such a demand for animals as exists today. Breeders and buyers alike are reaping fortunes. One firm located in Missouri is shipping an average of 4000 horses per month to the Canadian border and is employing 50 buyers to scour the central and mountain western states to secure animals. High as is the price today breeders are holding back and in confidence buyers themselves tell you that by winter time they expect to see the average price raise to $200.

The demand is becoming more pressing every week. Italy, within the last few days has contracted with an Oklahoma firm for 25,000, while Great Britain and France have lifted the lid on any previous limitations of their contracts. They will take all that are offered.

"I bought a pacer today," said a young horse buyer who makes Missouri and Kansas his territory, "for $500, for the English army. That horse had a record of 2:07 on the Grand Circuit and his pedigree went back as far as you could see. If this war keeps up for another year it will take American horsemen a decade to build up the American horse to the standard it kept before this war broke out."

"We buyers get five dollars a head for every horse we buy. There are 47 men buying horses for my firm. In all there are about 250 buyers now tripping about the west looking for stuff to feed the machine guns in Flanders. I average about eighty horses a week although I bought 200 one week not long ago. That's making a fairly good salary for me. Before this war broke out I thought that $25 a week as manager for a Missouri livery stable was great business. All of the old gang that used to follow the strings about the tracks in the summer and hang out around the yards in Chicago and St. Louis and Kansas City in the winter are in the horse buying game today and living on easy street. Why, say, I met an old pal of mine in Des Moines who took me up to the Commercial Savings bank and showed me a balance of $50,000 in his favor. He hadn't been making a real good living for the last ten years and now he's fixed for life on what he's cleared on the market in the last ten months."

"July 1st my firm made one of the biggest single shipments of horses ever put on cars. We got hold of 1000 head on the Mexican border at $60 a head and sold them to Great Britain for about $175 each. The British government has two horse resting stations in the United States. One of these is at Boone, Iowa, and the other is at Englewood, Ill., near Chicago. We ship most of our animals to Vancouver, B. C., where the English take them over. I understand they are shipped via the Suez canal."

"The American army is getting in to the game now and I have an order for both horses and mules for the U. S. A. However, the American officers maintain the old standards and we take care that our best stock goes to Uncle Sam."

GOOD YIELD OF WHEAT.

One of the best wheat yields in Rush county was reported Saturday. A. C. Stevens, who lives on the T. H. Reed and Son farm a short distance east of Rushville, raised 1,491 bushels of wheat off of fifty-eight acres, the total crop. It averaged twenty-six bushels to the acre and weighed sixty pounds to the bushel, showing it to be a good grade.

To the man who works for his living falling sick with tuberculosis means a very real danger not only to his own life but to the lives of his wife and children as well. His wealthier neighbors may lay aside his routine cares and "take the cure" for tuberculosis without materially affecting his family's health or income. The consumptive workman on the other hand must give up his job and with it his only income, and at the same time he is frequently compelled to remain at home, a constant source of danger to his family, unless he is properly instructed. It may save you who read this article considerable money and suffering if you learn from it how to avoid the entrance of tuberculosis into your body.

Tuberculosis is infectious and communicable from one person to another. It differs in some respects from scarlet fever, measles, or smallpox, so-called "contagious" diseases, in that tuberculosis requires repeated exposures and certain special conditions to pass the germs from the sick to the well. It is not inherited but must be communicated through one of the following sources from one person to another:

(1) The infection is derived in the very large majority of cases from the sputum discharged from "open" or ulcerated tubercles in the lungs.

(2) A certain number of persons, chiefly infants, estimated variously from one to ten per cent of all cases, receive the infection from the milk of tuberculous cows.

(3) A very few others may possibly obtain the infection from the urine and fecal discharges of consumptives or from the pus joints or other parts of the body which are the seat of ulcerating tuberculosis.

(4) In a few extremely rare instances the infection is conveyed through the blood of the mother to an unborn child, but the offspring seldom survive long.

(5) No infection can be conveyed from tuberculosis of the "closed" or non-ulcerated variety, or after ulcerations are completely healed.

With regard to the manner of infection, still bearing in mind, that tuberculosis must be communicated from one person to another, we find that by far the most frequent mode of infection is by inhalation; the second is by swallowing, and the least common, by inoculation of a wound or abrasion. Considering each of these modes of infection a little more carefully, we learn that:

(1) The bacilli are inhaled most often in dust. The dust is most often contaminated by careless spitting; but the germs may also be given out in the act of coughing (with the month unprotected) or hawking, sneezing, loud talking, singing or laughing. Quiet breathing carries no infection.

(2) The bacilli may be swallowed with food which has been contaminated with infected hands or otherwise, and also with the milk, butter and other dairy products derived from cows suffering from bovine tuberculosis.

(3) Inoculation by the infection of cuts, scratches or abrasions is not frequently observed.

While no age, race or class is immune against infection from tuberculosis, children are more susceptible than anyone else. At the age of 15, frequently as high as 75 per cent of the population may show the presence of the germs, though not that many may be sick with tuberculosis. In view, however, of the fact that these germs may lay quiet in the body of the child for years, until with unfavorable surroundings his resistance is lowered, causing the disease to develop, it is extremely important that fathers and mothers do everything possible to keep their children from danger of infection in their earlier years.

Everything should be done at home to keep the child rugged and healthy. The father and mother, whether they have tuberculosis or not, should be scrupulously careful in their habits of spitting and person hygiene. The working father owes it not only to his own health, but to that of his children to avoid tuberculosis in every possible way.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Touch of Red Seems Absolutely

Essential to Smart Damsel

BY MARGARET MASON.

Said Susie Smith to Beulah Brown Just think my mother's hair In just one night Was turned pure white Because she had a scare. Said Beulah Brown to Susie Smith That's nothing, my ma's head In half a day Or less they say Was turned from black to red.

New York, July 24.—A touch of red seems absolutely essential to the smart damsels these days whether it is a scarlet flower in the lapel of her coat suit or sweater, a strand of red coral around her throat or a henna glint in her hair. Indeed, the henna glint is as necessary an adjunct to the finished product of the turned out women as in her pair of stays. You simply can't see a well coiffured head nowadays without without seeing red.

These burnished coppery tresses are achieved by rinsing the hair after an herb of henna wash. If you wish to go the limit and emerge with your crowning glory absolutely earned then the obliging hair dresser will give you what she calls an herb or henna paste.

Over in London they do you more thoroughly by smearing your locks with a henna paste that is put on hot and is of the consistency of soft mud just to obtain the glint effects. For a thorough redding up you get what they call an application which means the same smear more generously applied and allowed to remain a much longer time according to the depth of ruddy shade desired.

Women are all making up for quantity with quality in hair these days for with the simple skimpy coiffure of the moment unless the hair look glossy, healthy and well cared for the result is most distressing. With no false puffs, curls or frizzing to detract from Nature's dower it is up to milder to make the best of what she has. The universally popular French twist is gradually twisting itself out of favor and the style of hair dressing that is for the nonce ahead is a simple tight little knot at the nape of the neck. The hair, if you have perfect features, is brushed straight back from your noble brow and gathered uncompromisingly into the tight little knot behind. If, however, your features are not exactly up to artistic standards you may part your hair loosely in the middle or on your best side and then draw it into the tight little bun.

For once much good is resulting from a fad of fashion. The necessity care of the hair to make it show up well in the simple "do" of the moment is a benefit, yea verily. Frequent scalp massage, scientific treatments, strenuous brushing, not to mention the tonic effect of the herb and henna washes are bound to regenerate the scant locks of today into a luxuriant crop for tomorrow. Haste then and tie you to the henna if you are a wise woman. Begin to red up immediately. If you would be the pink of perfection you certainly must have pink hair.

Don't let anybody string you this summer but if they want to yarn you its all right. Yarn as a garnishment on frock and hat adds a striking new touch to the summer styles. A single strand of bright hued yarn in long slanting stitches finishes the edge of many a stunning wide brimmed hat of felt and velvet for late summer or early fall wear. In like manner the single yarn strands in short and long stitch or

"Deliberately unfriendly" were the last words used in the American note to Germany, which was made public last night, and those two words are the keynote to the document. In a nutshell, they express the sentiment of the United States in regard to German submarine attacks on vessels in contravention of the rights of neutrals.

There seems to be no question but that the American reply at hand will put an end to the evasive tactics of Germany. It calls for a direct answer. The United States makes it plain that it can not accept the suggestions made by Germany in its last note on the Lusitania case in which it sets up other things in order to evade the real issues.

Says the note:

"The government of the United States, while not indifferent to the friendly spirit in which it is made, can not accept the suggestion of the imperial German government that certain vessels be designated and agreed upon which shall be free on the seas now illegally proscribed. The very agreement would by implication subject other vessels to illegal attack and would be a curtailment and therefore an abandonment of the principles for which this government contends and which in times of calmer counsels every nation would concede as of course."

That ought to be plain enough.

Furthermore, the Washington government tries to emphasize that international law is international law and that it can not be twisted into inconceivable shapes to suit the requirements of the occasion, from a German viewpoint.
"The rights of neutrals in time of war," says the American answer, "are based upon principle, not upon expediency, and the principles are immutable. It is the duty and obligation of belligerents to find a way to adapt the new circumstances to them."

The note is brief and to the point. It discusses the questions at issue concisely and calls for a similar answer from Germany.

The alleged "political dopest" from Richmond, who is the first to open the season for political predictions, goes to some length in his oracular statements concerning the Republican race for congress in the sixth district. There seems to be one fact on which the whole story is built—that Pat Lynch will be a candidate for the nomination—and he has admitted that. As to the others mentioned—an there are strings of them—no one knows. It would be a safe wager, though, that the "dopester" is wrong on one guess. He says Judge Sparks may be a candidate.

The Republican party having control of the reins of government during the War of the Rebellion, the great task of reconstruction naturally fell upon its shoulders, and the performance of this task drew into its ranks some of the ablest statesmen that any nation has ever produced. The ability of the Republican party to manage the affairs of the country was made apparent by the rapidity with which the work of reconstruction progressed and by the vast strides that the country has made in development along all lines.

Being in favor of a Protective Tariff the Republican party has long been a protector of the big business interests of the country, and the bulk of the country's wealth and business being in the North, the G. O. P. party's strength located itself there. On the other hand the Democratic party has depended upon the South for the major portion of its strength and whenever it has been in control Southern ideas and principles have prevailed much to the detriment of the country.

Three different times the Democratic party has been in power since the Civil War, and each of the three Democratic administrations has been marked by the same Tariff tinkering and other anti-business legislation and each one has resulted disastrously for both party and nation.

The present administration created greater havoc than any preceding administration only because its leaders were more determined in their anti-business policies. The great bulk of its legislation has been aimed at business, and the American people are now repenting of the "1912 folly" in sackcloth and ashes. Southern ideas of business have again been put into practice and the wheels of industry refuse to turn. Wilson's administration has cost the country more from a business standpoint than did the War of the Rebellion, and as Lee's surrender marked the end of the Southern confederacy's attempt to separate herself from the Union, so will the close of the present Democratic regime mark the end of Southern anti-business hostilities.

As Lincoln, Grant and Sherman sat in conference a half century ago business leaders are now sitting in conference regarding the close of the war between "Big Business" and Miss Democracy and as Lee's army dodged back and forth during the last few days of existence as an armed force, Wilson and his supporters are even now darting from one alibi to another to escape the consequences of their Tariff tinkering and anti-business legislation.

EFFICIENCY OF G.O.P. ATTESTED

Recent Census Bulletin Showing Growth of South From 1900 to 1912 Food For Reflection

Entire Period of Development Under Republican Regime And a Protective Tariff

Washington, July 24.—Democrats are daily attesting the efficiency of Republican policies in developing the resources and industries of the United States. A recent census bulletin showing the growth of the productive interests of the South between 1900 and 1912 gives food for reflection.

The South's capital invested in manufacturers increased in twelve years from $1,408,866,000 to $3,500,000,000 or 148 per cent. The value of out put grew from $1,860,113,000 to $3,900,000,000 or 109 per cent.

The number of cotton spindles increased from 4,467,383 to 11,858,600, the number of looms from 113,106 to 252,000, and the amount of cotton used from 749,915,066 to 1,319,708,000 pounds.

The production of pig iron jumped from 2,642,720 to 3,054,980 tons. The lumber cut increased from 14,444,965,000 to 21,607,519,000 board feet, or by 49 per cent.

The capital invested in agriculture comprising investments in land, buildings machinery and livestock, grew from $5,262,270,000 to $12,102,000,000, or 129 per cent.

The value of agricultural products increased from $1,564,069,000 to $3,397,000,000, the equivalent of 110 per cent. The value of mineral output jumped 209 per cent.

Railroad mileage increased from 61,880, to 90,930; national bank resources from $705,282,000 to $2,112,717,000 or 199 per cent; national bank capital from $106,504,000 to $242,800,000 or 127 per cent, and deposits in National banks jumped from $334,650,000 to $1,050,068,000 or 216 per cent.

The entire period of this development was under the Republican regime, with a protective tariff in operation. It explains the reason why the South is being weaned away from the free trade notions which nurtured her when she was almost wholly an agricultural section. It also indicates the forces which must have been brought to bear on the Democratic tariff wreckers when the Underwood-Wilson tariff law was being framed, which gave the South all the best of the deal.

Snakes Alive!

The "snake in the grass" was one of the early enemies of the pioneers. Besides the varieties that were venomous, there were also many others as large, but not poisonous, that were even more aggressive. "Many persons, in different sections of the country, besides a large number of cattle and horses during the summer suffered from the poisonous fangs of these venomous reptiles which infested every portion of the country. Early in the Spring and late fall certain localities seemed to teem with these scaly reptiles, while other places became comparatively free from them." Search was made in the badly infested districts and two snake dens were located in 1827—8 one in the vicinity of Lafayette. The surrounding neighborhood were called on for help and a great killing of torpid rattlesnakes took place. The hogs devoured many of them and gallons of oil was extracted from others—their skins saved to cure those chronic disorders "for which they were deemed a wonderful specific." After a few annual clean-ups such as this it is said that the country was comparatively rid of the poisonous reptiles.

CORNER DIAMOND MARKET OF WORLD

United States Should Have All Gems For Years to Come Because of Purchasing Power

MINES IN AFRICA CLOSED

London, June 26 (By Mail)—The United States will have a corner on diamonds for years to come.

Information at hand in the British foreign office today shows that America is practically the only country in the world buying diamonds and the American appetite for them is amazing. Hundreds of thousands of sparklers are being exported from Germany to America via Holland. When war broke out a Berlin Syndicate which bought the bulk of West African diamonds had in stock a million and a half carats. These have been cut at low rates by craftsmen in Belgium and disposed of almost wholly to the United States.

Less than a year ago the syndicate that controls the output of the De Beers and Jagersfontein African miners had a stock of four million carats. Since war was declared the mines have been idle but the syndicate has not. It has exported the greater part of its stock to the United States.

Practically all diamond mines in Africa have closed down, their engineering staffs have been disabled and their native laborers discharged.

Experts agree that there will be a marked shortage of diamonds after the war except in America.

KING ALBERT HIT HARD BY WAR BECOMES SILENT

Havre, France, June 26: (By Mail)—The weight of war is telling heavily on King Albert of Belgium, according to those in the councils of the monarch. The King is more becoming a man of silence as the heavy days pass on, it is said.

At a recent meeting of his army councillors, the King is reported to have spoken but three phrases. Once he said "I agree," once "I do not agree;" and lastly he expressed in briefest form an idea of his own.

The King is ever on the move visiting his army or superintending war moves. He seldom sees his family.

PYTHIAN TEAM IS EASY WINNER

Knights of Pythias in Fraternal
League 6 to 2.

Inability to Solve His Delivery Responsible For Defeat of Knights of Columbus.

The Knights of Pythias team in the fraternal league won a well played game from the K. of C. team Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 2. Inability to hit Conde, the Knights of Pythias pitcher, was largely responsible for the downfall of the K. of C. team. Two scattered hits were the best that the "Irish" could gather and outside of the third inning never had a chance.

The game was really a good one and deserved a better attendance. The K. of C. team was the first to score counting their only two runs in the third inning. An error, a single and a base on balls were responsible for the run. The K. of P. infield played good ball, some sensational stops being made by Eddie Carter, an old favorite with Rushville fans.

The K. of C. team failed to hold the lead of two runs as in the very next frame the Pythian team "got to" Willie Fitzgerald for three runs. The K. of C. infield failed to display usual pep. With a runner on first and one on second, McKee threw to Coyne, to make a double and it would have been easy but Joyce and Coyne muffed up the play and all three men were safe.

Outside of the third inning the K. of C. team never had a chance with Conde and only one man reached second base. In the fifth the K. of P.'s filed the bases but succeeded in scoring only one run. Camp led off with a single. Carter drew a walk and Tompkins was safe on Fitzgerald's error, filling the bases. McGuire forced Camp at the plate, McKee to O'Neil and Carter scored when O'Neil threw to first to head off McGuire. Tompkins was then caught going to third. B. Conde made the third out by grounding to Fitzgerald.

The next game of the fraternal league will be played next Friday between the Elks and Red Men.

HUMANE SOCIETY IS ON WARPATH

Fathers Who Use "Slave-Like"
Tactics on Children.

Hammond, Ind., July, 24.—The Lake County Humane society is aroused and is on the warpath today looking for fathers and husbands who persist in using "slave-like tactics" on their daughters and wives. A number of cases where children and wives have been brutally beaten have been reported to the society.

The most striking case was discovered last week when in a hot, stuffy attic, a nine-year-old girl was found with her arms and legs black and covered with open sores, the result of a whipping administered by her father. The society is now investigating the report that a prominent Hammond politician is in the habit of whipping his wife and father.

CEDAR LAKE HITS "SAW-DUST" TRAIL

Takes on Appearance of Winona, Moody Church in Charge

(By United Press.)
Cedar Lake, Ind., July, 24.—The famous Cedar Lake summer resort has in the terms of the Baseball Evangelist Billy Sunday "hit the sawdust trail." Instead of the wide-open saloons and the scene of wild week-end revels of Chicagoans it is becoming a second Winona. Tonight the first annual conference of the Moody Church Assembly begins here and will continue until August 1.

The grounds which were secured by the Moody church last year will be formally opened by the conference which is expected to attract hundreds from Chicago and Northern Indiana. The assembly will be similar to those at Winona Lake and Northfield. The organization has strong financial backing and its growth seems certain.

The conference has taken the name of "Restawhile." A number of prominent speakers will appear on the program.

GAME GOOD IN SOUTHERN PART

Semi-Pro Ball is Flourishing in This Section of Indiana—Playing
Good Article of Ball

Seem to Have Edge on Other Teams in That Part

BY C. McCORMICK.

Princeton, Ind., July 24.—Southern Indiana semi-pro baseball is going good this season, and the figures and the class of players indicate its article of ball will measure up with that of either central or northern Indiana. Evansville is the nucleus of southern Indiana semi-pros, particularly in the southwest part of the state, and dozens of men of leagué and fast amateur experience go out of there each Sunday as members of south Indiana, south Illinois and western Kentucky teams.

The rural districts and smaller cities and towns, however, are not behind in the production of future diamond stars. Ed Rousch, Oakland City boy now shining in the Federal league, was playing the second sack for Princeton three years ago.

The fact that Southern and Northern Indiana teams rarely meet has given many upstate sports the idea that the south end of Hoosierdom produces nothing worth while, but it is hoped in the next season or two to stage tournaments that will give opportunity for a fair comparison of Indiana's semi-pro teams from end to end of the state.

Washington, Carlisle, Evansville, Boonville, New Albany, Cannelton, Tell City, Jasper, Bicknell, Bedford, and Princeton are all good representatives of the south "point" of the state, with Brazil, Linton and a number of other teams in the Terre Haute territory.

The Princeton team under the management of A. L. Gibson, and which has played practically the same lineup for three years, is again this season claiming state championship calibre. In 1913 it won 23 consecutive games. It went even stronger last year, though not consecutively and won an elimination event for Southern Indiana's honors, then at Vincennes at the season's close played the Lafayette Red Sox—the Red Sox being made up of the cream of the Lafayette, Pern and Kokomo teams—and defeated them 1 to 0. This game was played with the Indiana championship at stake, and on that ground Princeton claimed it for 1914. Princeton is going stronger this season and has been defeated but once, that by an out of state team, Mt. Carmel, Ill.

The Washington Greys play classy ball. Though recently in a slump, they are going like a house afire again. The Carlisle White Sox are an unusually fast team and capable of holding their own in any company among semi-pros. The New Albany Glenwoods, under Johnny Ray present the fastest club on the Ohio River playing independent ball. Cannelton and Tell City are always dangerous. "Big Six" Leimgruber, of Tell City is pitching wonderful ball against all comers and probably holds the south Indiana strike-out record. A strong road team is the Jasper Reds. Evansville supports several semi-pro teams, and among them the Riffers and the Athletics are able to give any opponent a hard fight.

MRS. KATE WOLFE DIES AT MARION

PROMINENT IN THE W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Allen R. Holden received word of the death this morning of Mrs. Kate Wolfe of Marion. Mrs. Wolfe was the widow of the late Jacob Wolfe and they formerly lived in Carthage. Mrs. Wolfe was well known here. Mrs. Wolfe was a sister of Charles Robinson, of Greenfield. She is survived by four sons, and one daughter. Short services will be held at the late residence in Marion Monday morning and the remains will be brought to Morristown where short services will be held at ten o'clock Tuesday morning. Burial will take place in Asbury cemetery.

Mrs. Wolfe was sixty-three years of age. She was known throughout the state as a worker in the Women's Christian Temperance Union. She was a lifelong member of the Methodist church. Mrs. Wolfe was born in Fountaintown, Ind., and moved to Marion fifteen years ago. Death came after a brief illness.

BARBERSHOP TRANSFERRED

Cause For Receivership Suit Brought by Smiley Removed.

The receivership suit of Gale Smiley against Lawrence Cummings, involving the barber shop in West Second street, which was to have been heard Saturday morning, failed to come up because Cummings has turned the shop back to Smiley. The suit was based on a note for $100 and Cummings left this city following the arrest of Charles Sweet, on a "bootlegging" charge. Cummings is said to be in Shelbyville and yesterday assigned the property over the Smiley, the original owner. It was stated today that the receivership suit would be dismissed.

FOR SURETY OF PEACE.

Stephen Borders, 826 West Second street, was arrested this afternoon, on surety of peace proceedings filed by his son-in-law. Borders is said to have created a lot of excitement in that section of the city by chasing a man with a butcher knife. Chief Rosenerance found four large butcher knives and three smaller knives in easy reach of Borders when the arrest was made.

Wilson Will Outline Program on Return From Cornish

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 24.—President Wilson will map out on his return from Cornish "a fair, reasonable and practical" program of national defense, the white house announced today. This program will be based upon conferences between the president and the secretaries of the navy and war. During his stay at Cornish the President will devote much of his time to defense problem, it was stated.

GERMAN ATTITUDE UNKNOWN

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
U. P. Staff Correspondent

Berlin, (By way of The Hague), July, 24.—Official circles here today refused to comment in any way on the latest American note in the controversy over German submarine operations. The text of President Wilson's communication probably will be published in the late edition of the afternoon Berlin newspapers and until publication has been made it will be impossible to gauge the German attitude since the newspapers here do not accept the English forecasts as accurate.

British Press Says Germans Will Have to Back Down Now.

London, July 24.—The British press today practically without exception applauded the latest American note to Germany. Brief editorial comment preceding the published text emphasized the firmness of President Wilson's missive and declared that Germany must now either back down or be prepared for grave consequences.

It is pointed out that the procedure is so complicated and the rules so strict that the employer would find it cheaper to buy compensation insurance than attempt to qualify to pay his own damages for injuries to employees.

It is further advocated by insurance company representatives that it is illegal for the industrial board to exempt all political divisions from the operations of the law because the law says that all employers, without any exceptions whatever, shall be governed by its provisions. It is contended that the board has no power to exempt anyone. The state board of accounts has sent out a statement holding that municipalities and all other public officials do not have to abide by the law in regard to their employees. It is said that this point will soon be raised and settled by the courts.

The North Clark street bridge was choked with persons on their way to work when the accident occurred. Friends and relatives of many who were going on the excursion lined the bridge railing, waiting for the boat to leave.

Captain Charles Carland, of the United States life saving station at the mouth of the river, hurried with his crew to the scene and aided in the rescue, as did dozens of tugs and other river craft.

The first boy received was identified as that of Mrs. Peter Kommer. Her two sons were believed to be lost. Her husband was saved.

Firemen chopped a hole in the side of the cabin and recovered the body of Mrs. Kommer.

Private motor cars and wagons were pressed into service in transporting the injured to hospitals. The police were summoned to the scene from a score of outlying stations.

Police drove the thousands of persons who crowded the Clark and Wells street bridge from the structures for fear that they would collapse.

Eyewitnesses said that the boat turned gradually and that when it began to tip the crowd rushed and slid toward the side that had settled in the water. The big steamer, weighted by the rush of its passengers, turned clear over on its side.

Captain Pedersen, of the Eastland, who was on the bridge when the boat turned over, insisted that not more than fifteen or twenty were drowned. He said an "air shoot" broke, letting in tons of water on the left side of the vessel, which is now lying on her side in the middle of the river.

Despite Pedersen's estimate of dead, William J. Plamondon, nephew of Charles Plamondon, who sank when the Lusitania was torpedoed, and who was a passenger on the Eastland, with his wife and two cousins, declared that at least 100 and perhaps more, were drowned or were imprisoned in staterooms and below decks on the left side of the ship.

Captain Pedersen admitted that there were 2,000 passengers on board. He said the boat's capacity is 2,070.

Deputy Coroner Forsberg early reached the scene and assumed charge with police reserves.

WHY BLACK AND WHITE?

St. Paul, Minn., July 24.—Black and white shoes are being turned out by the hundreds today by St. Paul's shoe factories, second in size in the nation. The black and white is an upshot of the war. They were formerly used in Europe, to indicate mourning. Their attractiveness caused a demand in this country.
